

Title:

Invitation to Student-PREPARE 2015

Content:

Dear student,

We are inviting you as a final year student to participate in the first European survey of medical students' experiences of teaching on antibiotic use and antibiotic resistance. Our goal is to find ways in which we can improve student education on antibiotic use, because it is junior doctors who are so often responsible for the day to day prescribing of antibiotics.

This Student-PREPARE (PREscriber Perspectives on Antibiotic use and Resistance Education) study will also be the largest ever survey of medical students, and is organised by the European Society for Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases (ESCMID).

We would really appreciate it if you would complete our online survey. It should take about five to ten minutes, and your answers will be completely anonymous. The survey link is:
